Conditions for relinquishment of Personal Allowance

The following conditions must be fulfilled for a single person to relinquish their Personal Allowance:

1. You must be in receipt of family allowance in respect of one or more children.
2. You must be cohabiting, i.e. living with another person as “husband and wife”, for the whole of the calendar year.
3. The person relinquishing any of their allowance must have their tax returns up to date.

If these conditions are fulfilled and either you or your partner has income which is less than the Single Person’s Allowance, the Law includes provision for any unused Personal Allowance for the year of charge to be relinquished.

Any such relinquishment, once made for the year of charge, cannot be withdrawn unless the conditions cease to be satisfied, i.e. if you cease to cohabit during the year of charge, in which case the transfer of the allowance will no longer be allowed.

If you or your partner wish to relinquish all or part of your Personal Allowance, please complete the details on the form overleaf and return it to the Income Tax Office. You are both required to sign the declaration for the relinquishment to take effect.
