Question 5

We have identified 6 key changes we think are necessary to improve the lives of children and young people. Do you agree with these changes?

(295 responses)

- 1 Children and young people's voices must be heard and be central to what we do – we should sign up to the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC).
- 2 Information systems and the ways in which we share information must be improved.
- 3 The needs of our child population must be better understood.
- 4 Services must be better joined-up and focussed on the whole child, not just one aspect of their lives at a time.
- 5 Our delivery of services must put the most vulnerable children and their families first in order to narrow the gap between these children and the rest.
- 6 We should focus on the early years and on early intervention using evidence about what works.
- 7 We should establish a 'Corporate Parenting Board' to ensure that the needs of children in care are fully understood and met, and that being in care does not lead to poorer outcomes for those children.

Tackle unintended teenage pregnancies and provide a prompt, integrated multi-agency response to sexual healthcare for all young people, linked into the Drug and Alcohol Strategy for young people, to tackle under-age drinking and the consequences of this.	254	10	264
Ensure that we are addressing preventable injury in children through an accident prevention strategy, which contributes to child safety and reduces the need for children and young people to attend A&E services, including for alcohol-related incidents and self-harm.	251	13	264
